THE OVERFLOW.

The news from below is not encouraging. Crevasses are still pouring volumes of muddy water over an already deluged Regular Monthly Meeting-Large Afcountry, and the anxieties as well as miseries of the people are increasing. The outlook there is still gloomy, but from above there comes a ray of hore. Tennessee, Mississippl, White and Arkansas rivers are falling, and the Ohio Reports from the Relief Committee and at all points save Evansville, where there is a reputed five-inch rise. The St. Francis is rising fast, but this being from the backwater falling from the Mississippl, we do not feel uneasy as to the result. Our friends below have therefore some comfort and occasion for thankfulness. In a week or so, at furthest, the flood will have abated, and they may have an opportunity—at some paints, at least-to profit by it.
